Assignment 1

Overview

Now that you've done the Getting Started with Web Coding lesson, the purpose of this assignment is to create your first web site on myweb.cs.uwindsor.ca!

Using your default domain on MyWeb, i.e., UWinID.myweb.cs.uwindsor.ca, you will be creating a web site with two (2) files:

- index.html
- a1.php

Creating index.html

In your domain's public_html directory, place an index.html file with the following content in it:

```
1. <!DOCTYPE html>
2. <html>
3.   <head><title>A1</title></head>
4.   <body>
5.     Assignment 1
6.   </body>
7. </html>

Creating a1.php

This assignment requires you to create an extremely minimal PHP page that mostly outputs HTML. This is being done so you can see how to create a PHP page. (Normally if you only wanted to write a hard-coded HTML file, you would save that file as .html on your web site. PHP files are executed and can dynamically generate page content which is useful for creating meaningful modern web sites.)

Create a file called a1.php in the public_html directory. Ensure the very first line is:

1. <?php ?>

After the closing ?> write the code you wrote in index.html (i.e., the entire file including the DOCTYPE).

Submission

First ensure that one can access your new web site's pages, i.e., the following URLs must work with the content specified earlier:

- <https://UWinID.myweb.cs.uwindsor.ca/> <-- displays HTML in index.html
- <https://UWinID.myweb.cs.uwindsor.ca/a1.php> <-- displays HTML from a1.php

where UWinID is replaced by your UWinID.

If all is well, then upload these files to this assignment page:

- index.html
- a1.php

NOTE: In this course, you will be uploading source code to assignment pages. Why? Web site code that dynamically generates output cannot be seen. (This is a good thing for security and privacy reasons!) Thus, such code needs to be submitted so it can be marked! (Accordingly, items not submitted won't be marked.)

Grading criteria

This rubric is for the first assignment in COMP-3340.

Normally the marker will adhere to the rubric, but, the marker reserves the right to add/subtract marks based on the quality of the work provided. (Such overrides will be noted in the feedback comments.)

HTML &lt;title&gt;, hyperlink, etc. Elements	HTML code needs work. 0 points	HTML code has some errors 1 points	Most HTML code is correct. 2 points	All HTML code is correct. 3 points
Assignment Requirements Conformance	Not all instructions were followed. 0 points	Most instructions were followed. 1 points	All instructions were followed. 2 points	All instructions were followed. 3 points
userid.myweb.cs.uwindsor.ca	Neither the UWINID.myweb domain is properly created and there are too many issues with and/or the assignment files are not properly deployed as the site's default home page. 0 points	The UWINID.myweb domain is properly created. There are issues with and/or the assignment files are not properly deployed as the site's default home page. 2.5 points	The UWINID.myweb domain is properly created. There are issues with and/or the assignment files are not properly deployed as the site's default home page. 5 points	The UWINID.myweb domain is properly created. There are issues with and/or the assignment files are not properly deployed as the site's default home page. 5 points
Late Penalty (Deduction)	Late. All marks deducted. -10 points	Late but submitted within 24 hours of deadline or late without penalty deadline. -2 points	Late but submitted within 24 hours of deadline or late without penalty deadline. 0 points	Not late without penalty. 0 points
